At a meeting of the Union League Club, held at the Club House on Nov. 3, 1864. GEORGE BLISS, JR., called the attention of the members to the fact that Mr. GEORGE W. BLUNT had suggested through the newspapers the propriety of a movement to provide a Thanksgiving Dinner for the Soldiers and Sailors, and moved the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted :

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to co-operate in the movement for providing a Thanksgiving Dinner for Soldiers and Sailors at the front.

The undersigned having been appointed such committee, at once issued the following appeal, though we knew that it would receive little attention till after the excitement attending the pending election had passed away :

THANKSGIVING DINNER FOR THE SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

The undersigned, a Committee appointed at a meeting held at the Union League Club House, appeal to the people of the North to join them in an effort to furnish to our gallant soldiers and sailors a good Thanksgiving Dinner. We desire that on the twenty-fourth day of November there shall be no soldier in the Army of the Potomac, the James, the Shenandoah, and no sailor in the North Atlantic Squadron who does not receive tangible evidence that those for whom he is periling his life, remember him. It is hoped that the armies at the West will be in like manner cared for by those nearer to them than we. It is deemed impracticable to send to our more Southern posts.

To enable us to carry out our undertaking we need the active co-operation of all loyal people in the North and East, and to them we confidently appeal. We ask primarily for donations of cooked poultry and other proper meats, as well as for mince pies, sausages and fruit. If any person is so situated as to be unable to cook the poultry or meat, we will receive it uncooked. To those who are unable to send donations in kind, we appeal for generous contributions in money. Will not every wife who has a husband, every mother who has a son, every sister who has a brother serving in the armies or navies of the Union feel that this appeal is to her personally, and do her part to enable us to accomplish our undertaking? Will not all who feel that we have a country worth defending and preserving, do something to show those who are fighting our battles that they are remembered and honored? Will not the press and the clergy lend their aid to the movement?

We will undertake to send to the front all donations in kind that may reach us on or before November 20, and to see that they are properly and equally distributed. They should be wrapped in white paper, boxed, and addressed to George W. Blunt, Getty's Building, Trinity Place, New York. If uncooked, it should be so marked on the outside of the box, and a list of the contents should accompany the box. None should be sent which has been cooked prior to November 14. Uncooked poultry or meat should reach us on or before November 18, that it may be cooked here.

Contributions in money should be sent to Theodore Roosevelt, Treasurer, No. 94 Maiden Lane, or to any member of the Committee.

The time is short, and we trust that no one will wait to be personally solicited. Will not some person in every city and town of the North and East volunteer, however, to canvass his own city or town?

The American, Adams, Harnden, National, Kingsley, Hope, Long Island and United States Express Companies have generously offered to transmit to this city, free of charge, all boxes addressed as above, and it is not doubted that other Express Companies will do the same.

The following letter was received from Commander John Rodgers :

NEW YORK, NOV. 4, 1864

DEAR BLUNT,

It is proposed by the good gentlemen of this city, to send a Thanksgiving Dinner to the Army of the Potomac, and the fleet in the James River.

The thought is a grand one, not that the mere food is of so much value, though that is very important to the thousands of happy men who will receive it, but far more encouraging will be the comfort of knowing that the people eating their Thanksgiving dinners at home, think not only of their friends in the army, but as well of those of that gallant body who have no friends and no ties of kindred to make them remembered.

Sailors are cosmopolitan in their habits—they are acquainted in every port, and have a home nowhere. To the most of them no family ties are known—they have outlived away from home the offices of kindred. If now to these hermits on the blockade the Committee could send a Thanksgiving Dinner, the food would be far more valuable than its mere money's worth.

No Sanitary Commission extends its aid to them—no friends send to the greater part of them delicacies by Adams Express. They are shut off in a degree from intercourse with the rest of the world. It would be particularly grateful to these men to know that their cause has raised them friends, whom in days of peace they never knew—that though seemingly alone, warm sympathies are extended to them in their loneliness.

What I propose is, that every vessel of the blockading fleet on our coast, have a Thanksgiving Dinner sent. If it should arrive after the regular Thanksgiving Dinner it will not be the less acceptable to men to whom any dinner fresh from New York will be matter of thanksgiving. The means of doing this is already provided so far as transportation is concerned, since supply steamers run regularly.

Yours truly,

JOHN RODGERS.

GEO. W. BLUNT, Esq.

The sub-committee, on preparing the poultry, called a meeting of the principal bakers and hotel and restaurant keepers, who generously offered their services free of charge, and after consultation, suggested the best mode of cooking and packing it. The sub-committee, on packing-boxes and barrels, was able to procure donations of a larger number than was needed.

Immediately after the appointment of the committee, the following letters and telegrams were addressed to Generals Grant and Sheridan and to Admiral Porter :

NEW YORK, NOV. 16, 1864.

LIEUT. GEN. U. S. GRANT,

General :—The enclosed circular will explain to you my object in writing. I telegraphed you to-day making some inquiries. But I repeat the substance of them here.

From present appearances, we shall have 80,000 to 100,000 pounds of cooked poultry, besides several thousand pies, some cheese, apples, cakes, &c., &c., for our soldiers. They will be properly boxed and barreled and the contents marked on each. The Government will give us transportation and we mean the articles shall leave here so as to be at City Point in good season on Wednesday. We shall send one or more agents from here with them, but at City Point we are compelled to bespeak your kind offices. We desire there to turn them over to proper persons who will distribute them fairly to each corps and equally in the corps, regard being had to the number of men in the corps. The plan which had suggested itself to us was to ask the Sanitary Commission to take charge of the distribution through their agents and to ask of you to furnish the proper transportation from City Point to each corps. This is the arrangement which worked so well with the onions sent to the army last July. But of course, if there is any objection to it we yield to your views, only asking that the supplies shall surely reach the soldiers, not the officers or sutlers.

Assuming that this or a similar plan will suit you, may we ask that you will give such directions that there shall be no delay in unloading the transports or in conveying the articles from City Point to the several corps. We would also like to have some one at City Point authorized to give our agent the relative—not the absolute—strength of each corps. He can then, knowing the entire amount he has, divide it properly among the representatives of the several corps.

May I not ask of you a telegraphic acknowledgment of this letter with a statement whether the plan suggested meets your approval?

The public, now that the election is over, are coming forward nobly. But our time is short, and we are therefore obliged to trouble you more than we otherwise would.

I am, General,

Your obedient servant,

GEORGE BLISS, JR., Secretary.

The poultry will all be cooked.

NEW YORK, NOV. 17, 1864.

MAJOR GENERAL P. H. SHERIDAN,

Commanding Middle Department, Winchester :

New York Committee on Thanksgiving Dinner for Soldiers will send to-morrow six thousand uncooked turkeys by rail for Thanksgiving Dinner for your gallant army. Should arrive at Harper's Ferry, Monday. Please care for their fair and equal distribution to the soldiers.

GEO. BLISS, JR.,
Secretary.

NEW YORK, NOV. 17, 1864.

MAJOR GENERAL P. H. SHERIDAN,

Commanding Middle Department.

GENERAL,—The Committee referred to in the within circular propose to send to the noble army under your command, about six thousand turkeys or their equivalents, say 48,000 pounds of poultry, to provide them with a Thanksgiving dinner. It will be properly boxed, and the contents marked on each box. We had intended to send them cooked, but the failure of our Philadelphia friends to co-operate with us, compels us to send it uncooked. We presume the soldiers will find means to cook it.

These contributions are intended for the brave soldiers in the field. We do not want the sutlers to get them, nor the officers, unless there is more than enough for the men.

We are obliged to trouble you for the transportation from Harpers Ferry, and for the proper distribution, and beg you on receipt of this to inform us by telegraph that this will be attended to.

The contributions will be forwarded either by Harnden's Express or Government transportation ; which of the two is at this moment uncertain. It is probable we shall send an agent to accompany them.

I am, General,

Your obedient servant,

GEORGE BLISS, JR., Secretary.

NEW YORK, November 10th, 1864.

ADMIRAL D. D. PORTER,

Commanding North Atlantic Squadron,

ADMIRAL :—I have to-day telegraphed you on the matter referred to in the within circular, and now repeat the substance of my telegram more in detail.

We want to give a turkey dinner to every sailor in the James and at and north of Wilmington. The public seem willing to furnish the means to do so, though, as we could do nothing before election, our time is short.

We want to know how many men there are to feed in the vessels referred to. The Kensington leaves here for Norfolk Saturday night, and unless we are advised to the contrary, we shall send our stores by her. They will be in boxes and barrels, and the contents marked on each. Will you undertake to see that they are properly distributed among the vessels, so that they shall reach the sailors, if we consign them to you? We know that you will do this and shall therefore pursue this course. If by any accident we should not send enough for all, please decide which vessels should have the preference.

I am, Admiral,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. BLISS, JR., Secretary.

General Grant unexpectedly visited this city before our letter reached him ; and at an interview with Mr. Ward on behalf of the Committee, he fully entered into the spirit of the movement, and gave directions that all necessary facilities should be furnished our agents.

The following replies were received from Gen. Sheridan and Admiral Porter :

HEADQUARTERS, MIDDLE DIVISION, NOV. 19.

G. BLISS, JR.

Dear Sir,—Your telegram advising me of the shipment of six thousand turkeys for the thanksgiving dinner of this army, is received. Permit me, on behalf of the soldiers, to thank the good people of New York for their kindness, and to assure them that for the occasion a more acceptable present could not have been made. Orders have been issued for the equal distribution on arrival.

P. H. SHERIDAN, Maj.-Gen

NORTH ATLANTIC SQUADRON, U. S. FLAG SHIP MALVERN, }
HAMPTON ROADS, NOV. 16, 1864. }

GEORGE BLISS, JR., Esq., Secretary, New York.

Sir,—Your telegram has been received. In reply I beg to inform you that there are seventeen thousand men in this Squadron. Six men to a turkey will be two thousand eight hundred and thirty three turkeys. I don't know how you propose sending them, but I suppose in ice. I will see them distributed, and you can send them when it suits you.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,

DAVID D. PORTER, Rear Admiral.

Money contributions soon began to pour in upon the committee from all parts of the country. As complete a list of the contributions as possible is annexed hereto. It will be perceived that the committee received in money $56,565,83. The number of persons contributing and their wide diffusion throughout the country, show how general and lively an interest was taken in the movement. For the purpose of conveying some idea of the feelings which actuated the donors, we publish a few of the letters received, selected from among many hundreds, breathing a similar spirit.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11, 1864.

GEO. W. BLUNT, Esq.

Dear Sir—As an old soldier who served through the entire Mexican War, and who can now appreciate the kind thoughts of friends at home for those in the field, I thank you sincerely for the laudable and patriotic proposition, as well as for your active part therein, in providing a good dinner for our brave soldiers in the Union army, on the approaching National Thanksgiving.

Please to accept the enclosed ($10), as an humble mite of mine to aid your meritorious purpose, and as the soldier's friend is my friend, permit me to subscribe myself,

Very respectfully and very truly yours,

H. McD.

CHAPLIN, Nov. 18th, 1864.

MR. ROOSEVELT :

Dear Sir—We wanted to send something to the soldiers, and we had a few chickens, but we thought it would be such a small box, that we would sell them, and send you the money instead, which we suppose you can use just as well. We hope every one of the Union soldiers will have a good dinner on Thanksgiving day, and we hope they can all go home by next Thanksgiving.

Please accept these two dollars herewith enclosed.

Very respectfully yours,

F. E. G.
F. A. G.

MEADVILLE, Nov. 18th, 1864.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Esq.

Dear Sir,—Enclosed please find ten dollars, ($10) as a contribution to the Thanksgiving dinner for our soldiers and sailors. Having a son in the 111th Reg., Penn. Vol., Company A, we hope that Regiment and Company will be supplied. We heartily hope that every one of our soldiers and sailors will enjoy a Thanksgiving dinner on the 24th of November. We shall enjoy our luxurious dinner at home doubly, for feeling that the soldiers who are perilling their lives for us in the field have not been forgotten.

Respectfully yours,

Mrs. A. H., Miss H., A. H.

STAMFORD, CONN., Nov. 19, 1864.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Esq. :

Dear Sir—Enclosed is draft to your order for $44, being the contributions of my school of thirty boys, out of their spending money, in aid of the fund for the Soldiers' Thanksgiving Dinner. They wish me to express the hope that soldiers of Grant's army may enjoy the turkeys as much as they do giving the money to help to buy them.

Yours,

W. C. W.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19, 1864.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Years have made me exempt. Please accept $5 to furnish a substitute.

GOBBLER.

NEW BRUNSWICK, NOV. 21, 1864.

MR. ROOSEVELT :

I hope I am not too late with my mite for the Soldiers' Thanksgiving Dinner. I have been wanting to contribute something towards it, but I did not know until Saturday evening, while reading the N. Y. Times, where to send it. I shall eat my own dinner with greater satisfaction, if I help to give a Turkey dinner to even one brave soldier. Yours respectfully,

A Friend to the Soldier and Sailor, a strong Union Woman, and one who rejoices over the re-election of our noble President.

NEW YORK, NOV. 19, 1864.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Esq.:

Please accept the enclosed $5 as a small contribution to the Soldiers' Thanksgiving. Wish I could afford more. An Alien. S.

DEAR ROOSEVELT :

The enclosed $1.25 was handed me by a poor nurse on steamer " Persia " this morning, as a gift to the soldier's dinner. No receipt necessary. W. E. D., Jr.

WESTPORT, FAIRFIELD CO., CONN.

MR. ROOSEVELT :

Two little girls are very anxious to give something to the poor soldiers, the one eight years of age, the other four. They send one dollar each, (a small part of the receipts of a little fair they held for the Christian Commission) to buy something for the Thanksgiving Dinner. From your little friends,

M. S. & E. F.

DRYDEN, NOV. 18, 1864.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Esq.

Dear Sir—Enclosed please find funds to pay for a Gobbler, to be sent to the Boys at the front, to cheer them on in their noble work of saving our country. May the efforts you are making enable the Boys to Gobble up Jeff, and his traitorous host quickly. Hurrah for our country, and our whole country. A. P.

HON. H. GREELY.

Dear Sir,—Please find two dollars from a young lady, who earned it for a soldier's turkey. Also two dollars from a mother, whose boy " fights mit Butler." He may not get it, but somebody's boy will have at least a DRUMSTICK.

FOR THE SOLDIER'S THANKSGIVING DINNER.

The savings of two little children, from their weekly allowance, $2.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 19th, 1864.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Esq.

Sir,—Enclosed you will find five dollars, the contribution of an officer's wife, to help swell the amount already large, to procure for our dear soldiers a dinner on Thanksgiving day. They have most bravely earned it, and will highly appreciate this remembrance of them by "loved ones at home." As my husband is now in "the valley of the Shenandoah," my sympathies naturally flow in that direction. He will be especially remembered. But I feel for the soldiers, whose privations are necessarily greater than those of officers, and who will be enabled to endure them with more fortitude, knowing that they are remembered by those who are engaged in the great work with their hearts if not their hands.

Very respectfully yours,

E. S. A.

HORNELLSVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 17, 1864.

Dear Sir—The ladies of Hornellsville, N. Y., will forward to you by U. S. Express to-morrow, to reach you on Saturday, a "dry goods box," full as per accompanying invoice. No forgeries, although two of the Turkeys are stuffed each with a chicken. If convenient, please send this box to the 179th Regiment, N. Y. V., of which J. W. Robinson, of our village, is surgeon, or else to the 86th, in which we have friends. The meats are all cooked and carefully packed. We hope it will go safe, and carry a little blessing to some boy away from home, Thanksgiving.

Yours in Thanksgiving,

M. W.

NICHOLS, Tioga Co., N. Y., Nov. 17, 1864.

G. W. BLUNT, Esq.,

The U. L. A., and people of Nicholas, send to your address for "Our Brave Defenders," a Thanksgiving Dinner.

1. Barrel Apples, given by C. V. S. Bliven.

Box No. 1.—1 Package dried apples, 3 packages chestnuts, 1 package blackberries, 2 packages fried cakes, 2 packages cookies, 6 mountain cakes, 13 mince pies, 2 gallons pickled cabbage, 1 can catchup, 1 bottle catchup, 1 can tomato pickles, 4 pieces 20 lb. cheese, 2 rolls, 4 lb. butter.

Box No. 2.—6 turkeys, 1 goose, 2 ducks, 33 chickens, 3 mince pies, 1 keg tomato pickles, $\frac{1}{2}$ bushel apples.

Box No. 3.—1 turkey received too late for shipment in No. 2.

One remarkable feature in these donations is, that not one "Copperhead" or opposer of the Administration has offered to give a cent, while others have come forward and donated unasked.

We hope the things will arrive in good order, and do the soldiers good.

Yours in the good cause,

C. C. Committee.

EAST SHEFFIELD, MASS., NOV. 14, 1864.

MR THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sir,—Enclosed please find two dollars, to be used in giving the soldiers and sailors a Thanksgiving dinner. I like the arrangement very much. I have been a soldier over three years, in the 7th Ohio Infantry : was in Hooker's 20th "Star Corps." I got shot through the face at Port Republic, June 9th, 1862, and lost the index finger on my left hand near Dallas, Geo., May 25th, 1864. So I am interested very much in the soldier's welfare. I hope they will all have reason to feel that they are remembered by their friends at home.

Yours truly,

C. L. K.

CHARLESTOWN, N. H., NOV. 18th, 1864.

GEO. W. BLUNT, ESQ.

Dear Sir,—We send you to-day 1 box containing 3 turkeys, cooked ; 4 chickens, cooked ; 6 lb. sausages, cooked ; 6 lb. sausages, not cooked ; 1 can cider apple sauce ; 1 box ginger bread ; and box filled with apples. Would like them sent to our boys in the Shenandoah Valley, Co. B, 14th Reg., New Hamp. Vol ; but, if not convenient, no matter ; if any of our brave boys have the pleasure of eating the good things, we don't care which State they belong to.

Yours respectfully,

C. H. W.

PLYMOUTH HOLLOW, CONN., NOV. 17, 1864.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT :

Dear Sir,—I enclose five dollars for soldiers' Thanksgiving Dinner. I desire to do something, and every little helps. I can eat my own dinner on that day with more satisfaction if I find provision has been made for soldiers making sacrifices for us.

Yours truly,

H. T.

POTSDAM, NOV. 15, 1864.

MR. BLUNT.

Dear Sir,—We have consigned a box to your care, marked Daily Ridge, Potsdam; the contents are, 6 turkeys, 16 chickens, a little cheese, a little butter, some cakes, enough to fill up the box. If you can find it convenient to send it to Co. I, 142 Regt., N. Y. S. V., 1st Brigade, 2nd Division, 10th Corps, Fortress Monroe, Va., we would like it, as we have sons and brothers there, and anything from home would taste better to the soldier than from any place else : but if not convenient, send it somewhere else. We shall not find fault if some brave fellow battling for his country gets it.

M. E.

MEADVILLE, NOV. 23, 1864.

MR ROOSEVELT.

Dear Sir,—I am sorry to find on inquiring this morning, that our mite has not been sent ; hoping it may not be too late. I enclose two dollars. We have none of our own family in the army ; but we claim all the soldiers as our "brothers," and could not eat our dinner to-morrow with happy hearts, without feeling that we had done what we could for our dear brothers.

Respectfully,

M. S. C.

WILLIAMSTOWN, VT., NOV. 19, 1864.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, ESQ.

Dear Sir,—I am a man of small means and have numbered some over four score years, still I consider it a privilege to contribute according to my ability for the comfort of soldiers in the field and hospitals; I therefore enclose one dollar towards supplying them with a Thanksgiving dinner. I also enclose one dollar, sent by a friend of mine, C. M. A son of his, Lieut. W. H. M., was killed in the battle of the Wilderness; another son of his, and his only child, is lying in Patterson hospital with his left leg amputated.

Yours truly,

D. P.

PLUCKAMIN, N. J., NOV. 14, 1864.

MR. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Dear Sir,—Enclosed please find one dollar towards the blessed enterprise of giving our brave and noble soldiers and sailors a Thanksgiving dinner. I well know how they will appreciate such a dinner, as I myself have been a soldier, and know what hard tack and salt pork is. God bless our brave soldiers and seamen.

Yours &c.,

D. H. W.

NEW YORK, NOV. 9, 1864.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, ESQ.

Dear Sir,—Not being able to send you a cooked turkey for the soldiers, please find enclosed the amount that will, I trust, buy a large one. The good news of to-day ought to open every Union man's purse as well as his heart.

Yours truly,

UNION.

NEWBURGH, NOV. 19, 1864.

Dear Sir,—Please find enclosed $10, as a small contribution to the "turkey fund" for the soldiers, from a devoted friend and well-wisher to our army, and also as a token of gratitude for the late election.

Yours truly,

NEWBURGH.

Of the funds received $51,502.93 were expended in the purchase of 146,586 pounds of poultry through Messrs. A. & E. Robbins, who generously donated the entire amount of profits on our orders amounting to $3,386.64. $1,162.77, were expended for dressing and packing of the poultry purchased; $500 were expended for apples to send to Newbern, and $2,054.27 for incidental expenses. There remains on hand a balance of $1,298.86, as per Treasurer's report annexed.

Within two or three days after the appointment of your committee, the Secretary wrote to the President of the Union League Club of Philadelphia, asking their co-operation and suggesting that they should take charge of the supply for the Army in the Valley of the Shenandoah. This suggestion, though causing considerable correspondence, led to no tangible result.

Though your Committee were informed in various ways that large contributions in kind were in course of preparation, it was not until Friday, Nov. 18, that they began to arrive. The Collector of the Port had, with the approval of Mr. O. W. F. Randolph, the lessee of the spacious bonded warehouse, known as Getty's Building, in Trinity Place, tendered to the Committee the free use of his store for receiving and packing goods. The various Express Companies as stated in the circular, brought goods free of charge, while with few exceptions, the cooperage, packing and carting were done gratuitously. The number of boxes and barrels received by your Committee was exceedingly large. It amounted to not less than 3,800, most of them arriving on Friday and Saturday, though some were delayed until Monday. Many of them came without invoices or other means to enable your committee to judge of their contents. As it was necessary that most of the goods should be shipped as early as Sunday noon, it was impossible for us to examine and repack the articles. We were obliged to ship them without obtaining any definite knowledge of the nature or amount of the contents.

In many instances articles were sent to us to be forwarded to particular individuals, companies or regiments. Your Committee had not offered to do this and though they had every disposition to oblige the senders, they found that it was absolutely impossible. Had we undertaken thus to gratify the wishes of individuals, we should necessarily have failed in our general undertaking. The consequence was that all such contributions were directed to be put in with the general supply. As we sent none of the supplies in kind received by us to the Army of the Shenandoah or to the fleet, there is of course no chance that any boxes intended for particular individuals serving in that army or fleet reached them, but the donors may feel sure that they reached some soldier fighting for our homes and friends. Many of the contributors indeed, while marking their boxes for their husbands, fathers, brothers, sons or townsmen, wrote to say that the marks were merely intended to indicate their preferences and that they would be quite content to leave them wholly at the disposal of your Committee. It will be perceived, however, from the report of Capt. Bronson, that so far as possible he sent to the persons to whom they were addressed boxes for individuals in the armies of the Potomac and James.

Admiral Paulling kindly placed at the disposal of the Committee, sufficient room in the steamer Kensington, bound for Norfolk for the contributions intended for the squadron under Admiral Porter, and detained her till our boxes were ready. Though the Admiral had estimated that one turkey would answer for six men, your Committee determined to send one turkey or eight pounds of poultry for every four persons. We shipped by the Kensington 30,300 pounds of poultry, consigned to Admiral Porter, who it will be seen by his letter had undertaken to care for the distribution. As the ships all have conveniences for cooking and our facilities in this respect were limited, the poultry for the Navy was sent uncooked.

At the request of your Committee Mr. Jerome Chappell undertook to accompany the articles, and, under Admiral Porter's directions, to assist in the distribution. The following report from Mr. Chappell, will show the fulfillment of his task.

“NEW YORK, November 28, 1864.

“COLONEL GEO. BLISS, JR., Secretary of New York Thanksgiving Committee :

“DEAR SIR—In pursuance of your instructions of the 18th instant, I proceeded to Fortress Monroe, on board the United States steamer Kensington, having on board the Thanksgiving dinner for the sailors attached to the fleet commanded by Admiral Porter.

“I arrived at Fortress Monroe on the morning of the 22d instant, and reported to the Admiral, and at his request and in pursuance of orders received from him, distributed the poultry to the paymasters of the various vessels, according to the number of the crew reported on board them, respectively.

“I also, in pursuance of orders received from the Admiral, forwarded to York River, one thousand nine hundred and fifty pounds of poultry for the crews of the vessels there stationed. On the 23d instant I proceeded to Norfolk, and there distributed, by the direction of the Admiral, the remainder of the poultry—with the exception of about four hundred pounds—which I turned over to the Admiral to be distributed to the crew of any vessel that might arrive.

“I regret being obliged to report, that Admiral Porter thought it not advisable to attempt to supply the crews attached to the more southern vessels of the squadron. The weather was warm and rainy, and the Admiral thought if he attempted to forward any of the poultry to them, it might become tainted before reaching its destination. I regretted this conclusion the more as I knew it was precisely these vessels which you most desired to reach.

“The receipts herewith show a distribution to sixty-six vessels specified. This is exclusive of a large amount sent to the vessels in the York and James rivers, for which my receipts are in gross without specifying vessels.

“In conclusion, I desire to tender my thanks to Captain Jno. E. Rockwell of the Kensington, and to the various officers attached to the vessel, for the assistance rendered me in distributing the poultry, and for the kindness and attention shown me during my trip.

“The poultry was received with great satisfaction by the sailors, who more than once broke out into cheers for the donors.

“I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JEROME CHAPPELL.”

Admiral Porter sent the following letter of thanks :

“FLAG-SHIP MALVERN,
HAMPTON ROADS, VA., November 29, 1864. }

“ To the Committee of the Union League Club of the City of New York :

“GENTLEMEN : I have to thank you in behalf of the officers and men of this squadron for the bountiful supply of poultry sent them for their Thanksgiving Dinner. It is to be regretted that the weather forced a distribution to the vessels in this vicinity only, those on the blockade and in the sounds of North Carolina being at too great a distance to receive their supply.

“An attention of this kind to the seamen of our navy never occurred before, and in offering my thanks for the kind thoughtfulness of the Union League Club, who have thus evinced their appreciation of the arduous duties the squadron are now engaged upon, and the desire that there should be no sailor in the North Atlantic Squadron who does not receive tangible evidence that those for whom he is thus perilling his life remember him, I feel that I but faintly evince the feeling of gratification and satisfaction of the men whose services as a class have been so little appreciated.

"The officers and men of the Sounds and on the blockade, though receiving none of the benefits of your kindness, appreciate most fully the intention, and rejoice that though they lost, their more fortunate comrades came in for a double share.

"I have the honor to be, very respectfully,

" DAVID D. PORTER, Rear-Admiral.

"Commanding North Atlantic Squadron."

At the late hour when your Committee found that, in consequence of the failing of Philadelphia to co-operate, the supply of the army of the Shenandoah must be provided for by them, they deemed themselves fortunate in being able to induce Capt. George F. Noyes, formerly of Gen. Wadsworth's staff, to accompany the articles intended for that army. The following report from Capt. Noyes will show how energetically, faithfully and successfully he performed his duty :

NEW YORK, NOV. 27, 1864.

COL. GEORGE BLISS, JR.,

Secretary of New York Thanksgiving Committee.

DEAR SIR :—

I have great pleasure in reporting that the Thanksgiving dinner for Gen. Sheridan's army arrived safely, was received with great enthusiasm, and that our mission has been a complete success. We reached Winchester, Tuesday evening, and the same night the twenty-five waggon loads of poultry came in under heavy escort, a fair proportion—six thousand pounds—having been left behind at Harper's Ferry and Martinsburg.

The next morning Gen. Sheridan sent in an aid and ambulance to take us to his Headquarters, and during our two days stay he proved, by his kindness to us, as your representatives, that he is not only a distinguished soldier, but also a most hospitable host and courteous gentleman. He issued strict orders that your gifts should be distributed only among the enlisted men, and by Wednesday night, through the active exertions of Col. Kellogg, Chief Commissary on his staff, and his subordinates, the distribution was fully and fairly made. To supply incoming scouting parties, and to meet any complaint of short allowance in any quarter, I requested Col. Kellogg to retain a few hundred pounds, so that all might fairly share your bounty. Thanks to the very cold weather of Tuesday and Wednesday we found the turkeys in first rate condition. I enclose herewith Col. Kellogg's receipt and statement of distribution.

The next day—Thanksgiving day—we rode over part of our line, and made personal inquiries and inspection as to the practical result of our mission. The want of proper appliances compelled most of the men to broil or stew their turkeys, but every one seemed fully satisfied, and appreciated the significance of this sympathetic thank-offering from the loyal North. One soldier said to me, "It isn't the turkey, but the idea that we care for," and he thus struck the key-note of the whole festival. Could the donors of this Thanksgiving gift have been with us on this ride, they would have felt satisfied that, whether as a token of grateful appreciation of past valor, or as the inspiration of future effort in the good cause, it had not been made in vain.

I enclose herewith a letter of acknowledgment from Gen. Sheridan, whose headquarters we left on Friday morning. In conclusion, I desire to tender my thanks to H. W. Domett, Esq., who accompanied and aided me, and to Mr. Herring, Agent of Harnden & Co's. Express at Baltimore, to Col. Newport, Chief Quartermaster of that city, to Capt. Flagg, A. Q. M, at Harper's Ferry, to the members of General Sheridan's staff, and to every officer whom it was my privilege to meet in and beyond Winchester, for a kindness and attention which made my trip so pleasant and satisfactory.

I am, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. BLISS, JR.,

Secretary, New York City.

DEAR SIR :—Your communication of the 17th inst., with circular, is received. The poultry so generously furnished my troops, under the superintendence of Messrs. George F. Noyes and H. W.

Domett of your city, has been equally distributed ; and I am confident that as I write—noon Thanksgiving day—many of our gallant soldiers are tacitly blessing those at home, for the kind remembrance so substantially manifested. For them I again thank you. Messrs. Noyes and Domett will leave for your city to-morrow ; by them you will be advised of all particulars.

I am, Sir,

Yours respectfully,

P. H. SHERIDAN, Maj.-Gen.

The armies of the Potomac and James of course required the largest portion of the supplies, which the bounty of the people placed at our disposal. To them we sent all the contributions in kind which we received, and a considerable portion of the poultry we purchased. The Government placed at our disposal the fine new propeller, Charles C. Leary, whose owner, Arthur Leary, Esq., and master, Capt. Sullivan, manifested great interest in our undertaking. We commenced shipping on Saturday morning and finished at an early hour on Sunday. She sailed at 2 o'clock on the latter day, having on board about 3,100 boxes and barrels. After the Leary sailed we received about 700 packages, which we shipped on the beautiful steamer James T. Brady, which was most generously tendered us by her owner, Arthur Leary, Esq. She left on Monday. We had the good fortune to procure the services of Captain Theodore B. Bronson, one of the United States Allotment Commissioners for the State of New York, and late Provost Marshal of the Sixth District, to take charge of these articles. He sailed on the Charles E. Leary. Mr. E. R. Agnew and two gentlemen of Jersey City accompanied him. The annexed report will show how well he executed his laborious undertaking amid manifold difficulties :

NEW YORK, December 5, 1864.

“COL. GEORGE BLISS, JR., Secretary :

“DEAR SIR—Having had the honor to be appointed by your Committee to take charge of the distribution of the Thanksgiving Dinner to the soldiers of the armies of the Potomac and James, I beg to express my sense of the confidence reposed in me by you, and to thank you for the opportunity of co-operating in so noble an expression of the sympathy of the North with our brave soldiers in the field. The new propeller Charles C. Leary, Captain James Sullivan, having been placed at the disposition of your Committee by the Government, was loaded and despatched on her errand of good will on Sunday, November 20, at 2 P. M. The weather was stormy, with heavy head sea during the entire passage, and our arrival at Fortress Monroe was thereby much delayed, as we did not reach there until Tuesday evening. The usual trip is thirty hours. We remained at anchor during the night, and started for City Point at daylight on Wednesday morning, and arrived there at about 6 P.M. The navigation of the James is very difficult, hence our detention at Fortress Monroe until daylight.

On our arrival at City Point I immediately reported at Headquarters to Lieutenant-General Grant, and at my particular request, facilities were afforded me to discharge our cargo at once, which I was very anxious to do on account of the perishable nature of the same, and our unusual detention; accordingly, Captains Thompson and Ames, depot commissaries, were deputed to aid me, and to these officers I beg to express my thanks for the hearty and prompt co-operation afforded by them.

We commenced at 7 P. M. with a large gang of negroes, and by dint of the most active exertion finished discharging the cargo by 8 A. M., Thanksgiving Day. To Messrs. J. Owen Rouse and Henry A. Green, of Jersey City, who accompanied me on behalf of the ladies of that city to superintend their special contributions, I beg to tender my thanks for their most efficient aid. Fortunately the weather had become very cold, which tended much to the preservation of our cargo. The negroes worked with great spirit, and enlivened the scene by their own peculiar songs; our gangs were renewed during the night, so that the greatest despatch was ensured.

I superintended in person the work during the entire night, and found that I was kept sufficiently occupied in watching the negroes, as some of them were inclined for a premature Thanksgiving Dinner, while others would secrete themselves behind the cases in order to be more fully prepared therefor by a refreshing slumber. One of them gave it as his opinion "that there was goin' to be a big ball somewhar." As soon as we had our freight all upon the dock, the work of putting the same on the cars commenced. And here let me remark upon the utter impossibility of making other than the distribution we made. Our contributions in kind were quite as large as the purchases made by your committee, and the contents miscellaneous—peanuts, pickles, periodicals, tapioca, turnips and tracts ; these, with turkeys, pies, ducks, geese and chickens, made a total which defied the four rules of arithmetic. On consultation with Captains Thompson and Ames it was decided to assort the varieties as much as possible and to distribute in bulk.

There were numerous packages sent to individuals ; these were forwarded as directed as far as possible, although your instructions to me were clear on that point, viz : “ You will find many parcels addressed to particular individuals or regiments. In all cases we have refused to undertake to deliver these as directed. If convenient to do so, of course, we will, but do not delay on that account.”

A part of our cargo found its way to its final destination on Thanksgiving day. At twelve m. I telegraphed to your Committee the progress made, and at the same time hearing nothing of the James T. Brady, which was to bring the balance of our cargo, I telegraphed to Fortress Monroe, but being informed by the operator at Lieutenant-General Grant's Headquarters that he had heard from the operator at Jamestown, that there was a steamer ashore below there loaded with Thanksgiving dinner for soldiers, application was immediately made to Colonel Bradley, who at once placed a steamboat at my disposal to go to her assistance. We left at two p. m., and reached the Brady at six p. m., finding her ashore at Hog Island Shoals, about fifty miles below City Point, on the James River ; after toiling for three hours unsuccessfully to get her off in company with the tugboat Pierce, I took her freight and headed for City Point, and reported, on my arrival, to Captain Thompson at three a. m. Friday. Our freight was all discharged by eleven a. m. Meantime, the freight of the Leary had been distributed, and the trains and boats were again in requisition for that of the Brady. Some of the packages being broken, particularly several large boxes of poultry, the same were carefully re-packed in barrels. Many of the boxes required re-nailing and hooping ; this was promptly done, as some half dozen coopers were placed at my disposal.

I have been thus explicit in this report, as I am anxious that no blame should attach to the Committee on account of the delay, which is, I think, satisfactorily accounted for.

Here follows the report of Captain Thompson to me :

CITY POINT, Va., November 30th, 1864.

T. B. BRONSON, Esq.,

Dear Sir :—I submit for your information, the following items in regard to the distribution of poultry, &c., sent by the people of the North for a soldiers' Thanksgiving dinner. It was distributed to the officers designated to receive it in amounts as follows :

Four car-loads to Lieut.-Col. Jos. S. Smith, C. S., Second Corps.

Four car-loads to Capt. S. R. Steele, C. S., Fifth Corps.

Four car-loads to Lieut. D. S. Tompkins, Ninth Corps.

Two car-loads to Capt. E. A. Fobes, C. S., Cavalry Army of Potomac.

One car-load to Capt. J. R. Coxe, C. S., Headquarters Army of Potomac.*

An amount equal to four car-loads was sent to Jones's Landing for the Army of the James, under charge of Captain R. W. Thompson, Jr., C. S., besides a large amount sent to Captain W. P. Martin, C. S., at Bermuda Hundred, for distribution to detachments in that vicinity. One car-load was sent to Wilson's Wharf for that place, Harrison's Landing and Fort Powhatan. Besides these amounts, I distributed to troops at City Point—comprising the Engineer Brigade, Twentieth New York State Militia, Tenth and Twenty-eighth United States colored troops, General Hospital, guard and troops at General Grant's headquarters, detachments, batteries and employees, a liberal allowance. I hear from all quarters that the articles were received and enjoyed as soldiers alone can enjoy such munificence. I am informed unofficially that the Army of the Potomac has been bountifully supplied, and have flattering reports from different sections of the army that the bounty has everywhere been thankfully received.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE F. THOMPSON, Capt and C. S.

On Saturday, November 26, I started on my visit to the front, and was greatly gratified to find that the promptness of the distribution had exceeded my anticipations. Our freight had reached its final destination, in all cases that came under my observation, in very good order. This fact, which I learned on particular investigation, was most satisfactory. Several of the soldiers of one regiment remarked that 'they had plenty of turkey, just as much as they wanted—it made them feel good ; but the fact that they were remembered by those at home made them feel better ;' and I feel confident that this glorious outpouring of the heart of the North, the kindly contributions of the farmyard and the fireside to those loved ones now standing by the camp fire and on the picket line, will be more than appreciated, and that their arms will be nerved for even braver deeds.

* Each car has a capacity of 200 barrels.

Respectfully yours,

THEODORE B. BRONSON,
Special Agent, Com. on Thanksgiving Dinner.

The aggregate amount of contributions received and forwarded by your Committee cannot be accurately given, for the reason that, as already stated, many of the packages received came unaccompanied by invoices, and your Committee were unable to examine them. But from a careful analysis of such invoices as were sent, your Committee are satisfied that they received and forwarded at least 225,000 lbs. poultry. This was in addition to 148,586 pounds purchased by the Committee, and was in addition also to an enormous quantity of cakes, doughnuts, gingerbread, pickles, preserved fruits, apples, vegetables, and all the other things which go to make up a Northern Thanksgiving Dinner; of the amount of these your Committee have not ventured even to make an estimate. In our opinion we forwarded in the aggregate a sufficient amount to have given a good Thanksgiving dinner to every soldier in the armies of the Shenandoah, Potomac and the James' and in the North Atlantic Squadron, and if any did not receive a sufficient amount—and there were doubtless many such cases—it arose from the difficulty of access to them or the accidental omissions and oversights necessarily accompanying a distribution of a large amount of supplies to so large a number of men within a very short time.

Even after the Brady had left, boxes continued to arrive. Finding that we were likely to have not only a surplus of contributions in kind, but a considerable amount of money, we determined to see that the troops in the hospitals and forts in and around this city were fully supplied with a good Thanksgiving dinner. After making careful inquiry as to what was being done by others, we found that the Board of Brokers had made an appropriation, and the Committee having it in charge, agreed on our suggestion, to care for the inmates of the Soldier's Home in Howard St., and of the Hospital corner of 51st St. and Lexington Avenue. We found also that in many of the hospitals partial supplies had been provided. We sent to Willets Point about 12,000 pounds of poultry besides a considerable amount of apples, turnips, potatoes, cakes, &c., and fifty dollars in money, which, with articles from other sources, fully supplied its inmates. We also sent to Fort Hamilton 24 boxes and barrels, to Fort Lafayette 8 boxes, to Bedloes Island 6 boxes, to Governor's Island 26 boxes, to the fort at Sandy Hook 260 pounds poultry, to the receiving ship Vermont 34 boxes, to ship Newbern 9 boxes, to Navy Yard 21 boxes, to St. Luke's Hospital 6 boxes, to the New England Rooms 30 boxes, to Fort Richmond 18 boxes, to Fort Schuyler 24 boxes, to Transit Hospital at the Battery 8 boxes, to Central Park Hospital 7 boxes. We also offered to supply the hospitals at Baltimore, and that at Portsmouth Grove, and the soldiers at Annapolis, but our assistance was not needed. After Thanksgiving we sent eleven cases received too late to the iron clad Dictator, lying in the harbor of New York, and on Dec. 3, we sent to the soldiers at Newbern and elsewhere in North Carolina, about 260 barrels of supplies, which would bear the delay, including one hundred barrels of apples purchased by us. Mr. Frank Whitney accompanied them, and reports the performance of his duty as follows :

NEW YORK, Dec. 17th, 1864.

GEORGE BLISS, JR., Secretary,

DEAR SIR :—In pursuance of instructions received from you, I sailed Sunday, Dec 3d, in U. S. steamer Ellen S. Terry, for Newbern, N. C., in charge of donations for soldiers at or near that point. Monday night we made for Fortress Monroe, the weather being threatening, and stayed there until Wednesday, arriving at Newbern Friday night.

Saturday morning I called upon Brig. Gen. Harland, Maj. Gen. Palmer being sick, who upon learning the nature of my mission at once offered me every facility for carrying it out. By his direction I called upon Capt. J. A. Judson, A. A. G., who promptly gave the matter his attention. At his suggestion and with the help of Capt. Holden, A. Q. M., I had the goods taken to a store that night. On Sunday I again called upon Capt. Judson, who gave me a complete list of the different organizations and numbers of troops in each, situated at Newbern and Beaufort. As the contents of many of the packages were in danger of spoiling and considerable delay must necessarily ensue in waiting for water transportation to other points, I deemed it best to confine the distribution to these two points, Beaufort being readily reached by rail from Newbern. Most of the troops were absent on an expedition, but were expected back the next day. I made the division equally among them, and Capt. Judson kindly offered to take entire charge of the distribution when the troops returned. He caused letters to be addressed to the commander of each organization, instructing him to send at once for his portion of the donations and explaining the possibility of some of the packages proving damaged.

Having made this arrangement I returned on the Ellen E. Terry to this city. Capt. Wm. H. Chapin, of this vessel, insisted upon contributing to your fund the amount of my bill for subsistence. The amount was twenty-seven dollars.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

F. WHITNEY.

GEORGE BLISS, JR., Esq. New York.

The want of invoices already referred to prevents us from giving a complete list of the names of those who sent contributions in kind. In many cases, too, the boxes arrived so late that though they had marks showing who sent them, we had to ship them at once, without detaining them even long enough to copy the marks. We feel no hesitation, however, in saying that we received all that was intended for us. The contributions came from every New England State, from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan.

The spirit in which the eatables were received by the soldiers, was no less gratifying than that exhibited by the senders. Many persons had placed in the boxes prepared by them their names, with some kind word added. The recipients of these boxes in many instances took the pains to write letters of acknowledgment. We annex copies of a few which have come to our hand :

NORWICH :

Friend of the soldier—I cannot refrain from embracing the opportunity of sending a letter free to you for the kindness you have bestowed toward the soldier in the field. Thanksgiving day is over, and a happy one it was ; indeed, I cannot express my thanks towards you for kindness toward the soldiers. We feel proud to think over it, that our patriotic citizens at home have not forgotten us yet, after over three years' battling for the nation, but we hope to God we may soon reward you for your kindness with the one great boon yet needed.—an honorable peace, which will banish from the fields of the south the camps of the invader, and the avenging soldier of the Union, and the misguided soldier of the confederacy—a peace which will permit our ruined towns to be repopulated, which will replace the clash of arms with the tranquil hum of industry. It has happened that the mess I belong to got the turkey with your name attached to it, so I came to a conclusion to let you know that the turkey arrived at the place of its destination, and that we enjoyed a good and happy feast with it. I am a veteran ; I have participated in the Sherman expedition to South Carolina, in the campaign on Vicksburg, Mississippi under Grant ; in the campaign in Tennessee ; the siege of Knoxville under Burnside ; and have participated in the campaign from the Rapidan on to Petersburg. My home is in the city of Reading, Pennsylvania. I must now come to a close, hoping this to find you all enjoying good health, and may God be with you in all your future doings.

TO MRS. R. SCOTT AND OTHERS WHO HAVE REMEMBERED THE SOLDIERS :

Dear Madam and Friends—Upon this beautiful Sabbath morning I have the honor and extreme pleasure to acknowledge in behalf of 336 enlisted members of, and present with, the 143d Reg. Pa. Vols., the reception of 168 lbs. of roasted turkey and chickens ; 196 lbs. of Spitzenberg apples ; 1 keg of apple butter ;

20 lbs. of cakes ; 9 minced pies ; and 84 lbs. of vegetables from parties unnamed ; also 1 box of choice delicacies tastefully packed with roasted turkeys and chickens, cakes and pies, from Mrs. R. Scott of Oswego City, N. Y., as "Thanksgiving offerings to the brave defenders of our country." Although arriving two days after the appointed Thanksgiving day, they were nevertheless quite as acceptable and as highly appreciated upon the 26th as they could possibly have been upon the 24th day of November.

These offerings were in themselves worthy the cause, the present aspect of which constrained our noble President to proclaim a day of thanksgiving and prayer to the Great Giver of all blessings.

We do not wish to boast ; yet, as we feel that the title you have seen fit to honor us with—"Brave defenders of our country." has been fairly earned by the 336 veterans present with us, yet, we in common with the friends and relatives at home, can but unite in giving of thanks to the memory of the noble fallen—more than 1,000 of whom have left our ranks to try the realities of death, or to languish upon beds of pain, or in the loathsome rebel prisons.

My pen has not the powers of description, that would do justice to the advent of those home remembrances among us,—scenes which stir to the depths the feelings of sturdy men, whose twenty-seven months of hard service, fraught with the peril of life and limb, in front of relentless traitors, whose "loud cannon thunder and death-dealing shots have but nerved them to suffer, to do and to dare," for the maintenance of the best government ever instituted by man. These scenes, let me say again, are not to be described—only to be seen and felt. Still I can say, that many and warm were the expressions of thankfulness and prayers, in deeds, if not in words, which arose from each heart as these kind remembrances of home scenes and loved ones were spread out before us ; presenting, as you may well and truly judge, almost a novel contrast with the venerable hard tack so inseparable from the soldier's bill of government fare. Therefore, as distributing officer for this regiment, I tender to you the sincere and heartfelt thanks of the entire command for your generous Thanksgiving offerings.

MR. GEORGE W. BLUNT :

Dear Sir—As our Thanksgiving presents were forwarded through you, please accept my thanks for your kindness in so doing. I enclose herewith a letter of acknowledgment and thanks to the kind donors who have been so mindful of our comfort, and regret to say that, with the exception of one barrel from Mrs. R. S. of Oswego, N. Y., the names of the givers could not be distinguished upon the several packages, or they would have been acknowledged to each by letter. So, if you think it appropriate, you are at liberty to have these published in your New York papers, so that all those kind friends may know that they were safely delivered and greatly appreciated. MRS. C. H. :

In the final distribution of the delicacies which the kind people of New York so generously and so bountifully provided for this army for Thanksgiving day, a can of tomatos was sent to my tent as my share. In looking upon it, I could not but wonder who had been so kind. The name was given me, but yet I was in doubt, and I will and must say, I wish my dear good mother knew you. She too gave towards the great undertaking; but how she would take you by the hand, and from her heart thank you who, though perchance inadvertently, done this for her son. Not only it comes from me, but from the whole army, in loud thankful voice to you and to all who in this war at home, surrounded by all the comforts and joys which home alone can give, have not forgotten us, separated from friends and all who are near to us, and fighting for that glorious old flag, which we all so fondly love. Believe me when I say, they will ever be remembered for this act of kindness. It has put a new spirit into us all, and we do feel and know that your hearts are with us in this great and glorious work. You have led each and every man on that sacred holy day, that day of prayer and thanksgiving, to the ruler of the universe, the God of battles, to pledge himself anew to the great work given him to do, and all are willing, as of old, to sacrifice that dearest of all earthly possession, life, on the altar of the country. You have touched the soldier's heart; you have learned him to feel his heart to throb with joy, (be on whom the whizzing bullet or the screaming shot and shell could make no impression), but who, like unto the sturdy oak, bends like a reed before your kindness.

Again, accept my warmest thanks for your kind donation, and may God in His infinite goodness and mercy grant you all the blessings of this life and in the world to come, is the wish of,

Very respectfully your obedient servant,

C. A. W.,

1st Lieut. and Adjt., 8th Penn. Cavalry.

P.S.—Should you be pleased to write me an answer, I shall be happy to receive it, or should you desire, will give you my mother's direction. She lives in New York, and I believe but a short distance from you. C. W.

Madam—The turkey bearing your address, and intended for a Thanksgiving dinner, had the good fortune (at least to us) to fall into the hands of three New Yorkers and one Pennsylvanian, comprising one mess.

We had concluded that the people had forgotten us at the North, but happily we were disappointed.

How can we thank our friends. Not in words. But we will try and have our deeds in future prove that we can appreciate your kindness in remembering us.

The turkey will make us two good meals ; and while satisfying ourselves, we will not forget the kind heart that can spare time to think of the soldier.

With many thanks for your present, I remain your humble servant.

MRS. J. N. P. :

Madam—I have the pleasure to announce to you that your correspondent is in receipt of a Thanksgiving present (a voluptuous turkey), one of those that we have frequently read about in ancient history ; to describe it would be impossible. The taste of a soldier down here upon the feathered tribe can scarcely be pictured, but altogether I pronounce it elegant, and it would make a hungry man's soul feel proud. We cannot extend sufficient manifold kindness toward the ladies of New York. Although I am a Pennsylvanian myself, it appeared to me that it was my lot to be the happy recipient of the above named fowl. These friends are the means of restoring new vigor in the hearts and lives of the soldiers, knowing that part of the human sex (the ladies) are for the preservation of the Union and our glorious country, which braces us up to fight our foe and enemies of the Southern confederacy. Madam, although strangers, but when such luxuries and delicacies come before our careworn notice, we must emphatically say we cannot be such.

In behalf of the participants and myself, the receiver, we all heartily join in sending our heartfelt thanks to you and the ladies who have been so untiring in their efforts to make us comfortable, and reflect upon the day that we celebrated Thanksgiving. My friends, I shall now close my epistle, and remain

Your ever obedient servant,

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF POTOMAC, NOV. 24, 1864,

GENTLEMEN :

The generous offering of the citizens of New York to the soldiers of the Army of the Potomac, calls for an expression of gratitude that words can but feebly convey. Thanksgiving upon the tented field was to-day home in miniature. Around each soldier's tent were clustered those associations that are garnered up in the heart's brightest moments, and the faithful warriors felt proud that friends at home had turned aside for a passing moment from the daily routine of business to minister to their comforts. We assured this simple act of yours has bound us still closer in the ties of friendship.

Should the God of battles smile upon the prowess of our arms, we trust that next Thanksgiving day may find us gathered around our domestic hearths, enjoying in reality those feelings your kindness this day has created. Returning you our heartfelt thanks, it is our prayer that health and happiness may be your daily companions in your pilgrimage through life.

Very respectfully your obedient servant,

J. R. C.,

Capt. and C. S.

Some apprehension was expressed to us that improper articles might be introduced, or that advantage might be taken of the opportunity, to send to the army insulting communications. So far as we heard only one individual degraded himself in this way. This person using the name of a citizen of Albany—whether rightfully or wrongfully we cannot say—sent a letter, in which blasphemy, indecency and insult to our cause were combined. The soldier who received it sent it to Gen. Meade's Headquarters, and if the writer should ever trust himself within the lines of the army, he will be pretty sure to have an opportunity to try "life in the trenches."

The expenses and labors of your Committee would have been much greater, had not the people in all conditions and occupations of life, vied with one another in rendering gratuitous services. It would be impossible for us to particularize all who assisted us. The list of the poultry cooked by the bakers, hotel and restaurant keepers, shows how extensive their labor was. The master of an English ship and his wife volunteered to cook a considerable amount of poultry, and when that was done sent for more. A German restaurant keeper and his wife heard of the movement rather late, but themselves devoted two entire nights to cooking a large amount.

In other avocations of life we may mention the following :

The United States, Adams, National, American, Harnden, Kingsley, Hope and Long Island Express Companies, deserve

the first mention. We received from out of this city about two thousand packages, and most of which came by these and other local expresses, and were carried and delivered without charge, promptly and at unusual hours. The American and Western Union Telegraph Companies, not only aided us by telegraphing our appeal for contributions along their lines, but sent many dispatches for us to individuals and to the army. Mr. Alexander Kyle, the Superintendent of the store, and Mr. Sawyer, the customs officer in charge of Getty's Building, were united in their efforts to aid us, and kept the building open extra hours at our request. They gave us the labor of all their men without charge. Mr. Caleb Lyon voluntarily performed the duties of receiving and shipping clerk, and was very efficient. Among the cartmen who volunteered their services, the Committee have a record only of the names of the following, but they know that there were others: Messrs. W. H. Appelyard, Charles Ackerman, Abram. Collier, Lewis Allen, Joshua Walters, Abram. Brewer, Wm. Anderson, W. Esler, Alleson Jeffray.

The dinner to the troops on David's Island, was furnished entirely through the efforts of the following committee of ladies: Mrs. Jacob Le Roy, Miss Emily Morris, Miss Catherine Hone, Mrs. Geo. T. M. Davis, Mrs. D. Chapman, Mrs. John Keyser, Mrs. Horace Webster, Mrs. Henry Chauncey, Mrs. Richard Hunt. They were aided by several contributions; from the N. Y. Board of Brokers, from the Ladies of Berkshire, Mass., Catskill, and Mount Vernon, N. Y., Kent and Norwalk, Conn., and the children of the Ward Schools of New York.

As several members of the Club were present and assisted at this dinner, we have obtained from them a description of the same, believing it would be interesting as illustrating the way in which the day was generally celebrated in our hospitals.

Provided with abundant supplies, with the consciousness of a patriotic impulse, and the knowledge that the like appreciation of the services of the soldier and the sailor was being shown throughout the army and navy of the United States, within a radius of seven hundred miles, and with a lovely autumn day of sunshine and purple haze, to accompany us, we arrived at David's Island about noon.

Every thing on the Island wore an appearance of the utmost neatness and good order. Surgeon Warren Webster, U. S. A., with a medical staff of eleven Assistant Surgeons, and with the Chaplain of the Post, received the company at the library. This library, a spacious wooden building neatly plastered, carpeted and furnished, has over 2,500 volumes, the gift of societies and friends, for the free use of the wounded soldiers. It has desks and tables with stationery, provided at all times for letter writing and a good supply of daily papers and monthly periodicals.

Chaplain Lowrey invited the company to visit the wards of the hospital, and then return to the library to assist in raising a new American flag, presented by the ladies.

The same order and cleanliness were observable within the wards and mess rooms, that was found without. Each patient was on a comfortable bed with white sheets and pillow cases, on a clean light iron cot. The walls of the buildings plastered; the floors scrubbed as white as those of a quaker meeting house. Pictures of favorite Generals adorned the walls. In some places the invalids had apparently relieved the tedium of their recovery, by frescoing the walls with American flags, arms, trophies, etc., in a tasteful and highly ornamental manner.

No difference was discernable between the quarters for the white and the colored soldiers; though in separate wards, all were treated alike. There are 1,700 cots and 10 large mess rooms, which, together with the library, chapel, Medical Purveyors and Quartermaster's offices, kitchens and officers' quarters, makes quite a village.

One of the most interesting cases among the wounded soldiers was that of Patrick Dillon 82nd N. Y. He was wounded at Fair Oaks, the ball lodging somewhere near the spine so that it has been found impossible to extract it ; he is able now to walk a little with the aid of a crutch and cane, but has to pass most of his time seated in his arm chair in the pavilion ; his patience and cheerfulness are unfailing, though there are hardly any hopes of his being more than an invalid for life. Another was Andrew Jackson of Ohio, who was wounded at Morris Island ; he has had one leg amputated, and the other is worse than useless as he cannot bear his own weight upon it ; his only means of locomotion is by sitting down and moving by his hands ; his merry voice and laugh, and his violin, were among the first sounds we heard on entering the 11th Pavilion. Frederick Perry of Mass., lost his right arm in front of Petersburg, he was well, when, by a fall, the wound was reopened, and for some time his life was in jeopardy. Though depressed by this second illness, and the danger he knew he was in, we heard no murmurs. Through the skillful treatment of his surgeon, and the kindness of those in the ward with him, particularly James Dezell of the 87th N. Y., now gone to the front, he recovered, and on Thanksgiving day he was lying in bed with a plate heaped with good things by him, which he was enjoying heartily. We have heard that he has since been discharged and returned home.

In one ward, the 17th, nearly all the soldiers were maimed for life : some without arms, some without legs, others with hands or feet gone, faces scarred &c. It would have been a sad sight but for their wonderful cheerfulness. One colored soldier had lost both an arm and a leg, who, when spoken to, said, " he was willing to lose the others in the cause of liberty." As an illustration of the remarkable overruling of Providence in this war, I will mention that while others were enjoying themselves, Joseph Gautier, from Strasbourg in France, was suffering terribly from a prolonged illness. It was very painful to witness his distress and to know it was impossible in any way to relieve him; he had that day received a letter from France informing him that he had become heir to a property worth over forty thousand francs. He was comforted with the knowledge that this would leave his two orphan children in France, well provided for, and died happy with this thought, and that he had struck a blow, as he expressed it, "for liberty."

At one o'clock the visitors, accompanied by four or five hundred of the convalescent soldiers, assembled around the library, and while the new flag was raised, sung the "Star Spangled Banner." Mr. John Jay then came forward and addressing the ladies and gentlemen who were present, and especially the soldiers of the United States who stood in line before them, said:

"The raising of our National flag had been fitly made a part of the pleasant ceremonies of to-day, that we might salute together this banner which we all regard with such pride and affection, and which you of the army have so gloriously defended against the traitors who would divide our country, receiving in its defence the honorable wounds which attest your patriotism and your valor.

In the National thanksgiving that in this hour ascends to Heaven from the loyal states— and I may here remark, that this is the first time in our history that one and the same day has been appointed for thanksgiving throughout our broad land— what you have done, and what you have suffered for our common country, is affectionately remembered.

We who remain at home in safety, doing what we may to uphold the government and sustain our armies, are not forgetful of what we owe to the soldiers who fight our battles. We do not forget that they are maintaining the life of the nation, the integrity of its territory, the supremacy of its government, the freedom of its institutions, the National unity and the National honour: we remember also that while maintaining these, you have repelled the advance of the enemy, and have preserved peace in our borders and quietness in our homes. It is to your efforts, and the favour of heaven, that we have been enabled to live in prosperity, and to assemble as we are doing for joyous thanksgiving.

Nor is the influence of your work confined to our shores. You are maintaining the rightful position of our Republic among the great powers of the earth. Some of those powers, with small regard to their own honour, are endeavoring to destroy us without danger to themselves, by allowing their subjects to wage war under the guise of neutrality, and by exhibiting a policy as cowardly as it is faithless, in the vain attempt to arrest, what they know will be, the progressive influence of Free Institutions when we have maintained against the assaults of Slavery and Rebellion, the power and principles and prestige of our Republic.

While your countrymen now appreciate your services, and I know how gratefully you appreciate the kind and thoughtful attention you have received on this island, you need not fear that what you have done, and are ready to do, for the country, the moment you have recovered from your wounds, will be forgotten, when the present generation shall have passed from earth, or that our children to the latest day will not cherish your memories and exult in the heroic story of your life.

As we now bless the memories of those who fought at Bunker Hill and Lexington, at Saratoga and at Yorktown, in defence of the freedom on which our Republic was founded: so will those who are to follow us, bless the memories of the soldiers who with the same valor have fought and bled to maintain the institutions bequeathed us by our fathers. So will they cherish with equal pride the recollection of every battle-field that is consecrated with the blood of their ancestors—of ANTIETAM, CHANCELLORSVILLE, GETTYSBURGH, of the battles of the WILDERNESS, and all the rest that have been fought by the ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, of the exploits in the West by the army of the CUMBERLAND, of VICKSBURGH, PORT HUDSON, FORT WAGNER, CHATANOOGA and ATLANTA, not forgetting the memorable sea-fights unparalleled in history of NEW ORLEANS and MOBILE BAY.

In recalling our manifold causes of thanksgiving to-day, there is one upon which I need not dwell, the result of the Presidential election. That the people of America should thus with perfect calmness, but with irresistible power, have declared their sovereign will in favor of National independence and Christian civilization : overwhelming the hopes of traitors and of sympathizers with traitors, who, for the sake of peace, would lower our flag to the enemy and compromise with rebels in arms, is a cause for joy and gratitude, not simply to the loyal men of this nation, but to the friends of liberty throughout the world.

A new item in our list of blessings comes to us this morning. The telegraph brings us stirring rumors of SHERMAN's victorious progress in Georgia. It comes in time to give additional zest to the thanksgiving entertainment which your kind friends, the ladies of New York, have provided for you. Without detaining you further, for you are to be addressed also by one who has exhibited a generous devotion to the welfare of our soldiers, I will close by expressing the hope in which I am sure you will all join, that the time may soon come when peace and harmony shall be restored in our land, and the rightful sovereignty of the nation shall be established firmly and forever against traitors at home and foes abroad, so that we may witness the early dawning of the day, when throughout the length and breadth of our country, the sun shall not rise upon a rebel, nor set upon a slave."

After the cheering which followed Mr. Jay's remarks had subsided, Mr. Vincent Colyer was introduced, and spoke as follows :

I am honored by this opportunity of standing before you as the representative of the loyal women who have united in the Christian and patriotic purpose of hospitably entertaining you on this Thanksgiving Day. These loyal ladies know and appreciate this occasion ; they know and appreciate what you have done for us all, through these last few years of carnage and strife ; what self-denials and sufferings you have undergone ; what difficulties, obstacles, and bitter enemies you have overcome ; what heroic valor, calm fortitude, faithful obedience and discipline you have shown ; what wonderful marching, vigilant watching and splendid fighting you have done ; what victories you have won—glories you have achieved—States you have reclaimed for our common country. When we look from your bleeding wounds and mutilated bodies, your sunken cheeks and emaciated forms, up to this dear old flag, its blood-red stripes wear a deeper meaning, and its silver stars a more exalted glory.

We know how you have left wife, children, and parents, to enlist in this cause. It was not because you loved them less ; but because you loved your country more, for with Americans, love of country is second only to love of God, and he who loves not his country loves neither his God nor his fellow man. And how much would not some of these dear mothers, wives and sisters give to be in the place where these loyal women now stand ; but as this could not be, all that Christian devotion to you, and admiration for your services could do, your friends are striving to extend towards you, in the absence of your loved ones.

On this Thanksgiving day, what gratitude fills the heart ! After four short years of war, a rebellion which reared its hideous snake-like head, bold, defiant, overtowering from Baltimore to Matamoros, from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains, now shrinks trembling, whining, cringing in shattered fragments, with one end in Texas ; the body dissevered in Georgia, Carolina and Alabama—into which Sherman has plunged with a valor so sublime that we hold our breath to hear the result, striking like the sword of Joab under the fifth rib of rebellious Abner—while the head is at Richmond, with Grant watching it, like Jael by the head of Sisera, with the nail ready to be driven into its temples.

It is a holy day. On this day, years ago, the last regiment of British soldiers was preparing to leave these shores, and the young Republic in unrestrained liberty opened her doors to the oppressed of all the nations of the earth, save one. To-day that one people also, in all the joy of newly found manhood, stands free, the enemy himself now putting a sword in the hand which but a few months before he only bound with fetters, and slavery is forever vanishing from the land.

With a President whom the nation has recently re-elected with so wonderful a unanimity ; with officers in our Army and Navy of ability so commanding, they have won the admiration of the world ; with soldiers and sailors whose courage, endurance and loftiness of motive equal any ever spoken of in any history, what cause have we not for thanksgiving ?

Harvests so bountiful we could fill a navy with the surplus ; a public credit so secure its dividends in gold realize a premium surpassing all others in the loyal states, a prosperity of the whole people so unexampled, how can we, this day, refrain from devoutly thanking God for his goodness to us as a nation?

Do not think your services are not appreciated. All over the land the gentle hand of loyal women has been busy striving to honor and to serve you. Choosing the firstlings of their flocks, the finest from their fields, the sweetest from their dairies, they have heaped them up and sent them on to contribute to your comfort. You are bone of their bone and flesh of their flesh. While you live the people will exalt your deeds, and when you die cover your graves with garlands. Homes are provided for your children, and pensions for your widows.

Poets, play-writers, painters, historians, sculptors, composers, will vie with each other to sound your praises. You, yourselves, when your fighting is over will command the most prosperous livings and the highest offices in the gift of a grateful country.

Yes! and well will you deserve it all. A restored Union, a respected nationality, a free government, is worth all that we can give for it ; and to whom will we stand indebted for all these blessings so much as to you, brave soldiers and sailors of our Army and Navy? Well may you be cheerful then in the midst of your sufferings, having offered up your lives for your country's sake, you find them again restored to you an hundred fold in health, riches, and honors.

Sitting under your own vine and fig tree when this war is over, what shall hinder you, or make you afraid? Surely not enemies, for you have fought the most malignant of foes and overcome them ; neither sickness, nor wounds, nor pains, for you have endured all these like good soldiers and come off the conquerors ; nor hardships nor labors, for you are as familiar with all these as household words, and they harm you no more.

With a life thus faithfully devoted to our country in the past, it remaineth only that for the future we cling unto Him who alone commandeth alike the armies of Heaven and the Earth, the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, Jesus Christ, our Saviour, Mediator and Redeemer, and the final everlasting victory shall be ours.

At the conclusion of these addresses the company prepared for dinner. The ten mess rooms were arranged for two hundred seats in each, and a party of ten ladies and gentlemen were selected to wait on the table in each mess. The dinner was in every respect equal to that furnished in our first-class American hotels. First came soup, oysters ; then turkeys, chickens, roast beef, mutton and other meats, with cranberry sauce, celery, and every variety of vegetable obtainable in the market ; after this the pastry, and much of this was made by the best cooks in wealthy private families of the city ; then apples, oranges, nuts, raisins, tobacco and segars, coffee and tea, as may have been preferred. A blessing was asked in each dining hall before the meal began.

After the dinner was over, the company—soldiers and their friends—went over to the chapel, a structure, capable of holding comfortably eight hundred people, where C. P. Kirkland, Esq., addressed them as follows :

DEFENDERS OF OUR COUNTRY—SOLDIERS OF THE REPUBLIC : —

On four previous occasions I have considered myself most highly honored and distinguished ; first, when in the third month of this war, I made the welcoming address to a noble regiment on its way through the City of New York to the National Capital ; again, when, some months afterwards, I presented to another gallant regiment a splendid flag, to replace that which had been riddled by rebel bullets at the first battle of Bull Run ; and again, when I introduced to a large concourse of his fellow-citizens, who had assembled to do him honor, a brave general of our army, who had then recently suffered, as many of you have, the loss of a limb for the sake of his country ; and for the fourth time, when I was selected to address a war-worn commander of a distinguished regiment, on the presentation to him, by a large number of his fellow-citizens, of a splendid memorial of their appreciation of his gallantry on many a well-fought field. These were to me occasions of the highest gratification—but the present surpasses them all in interest, and fills me with emotions of even greater satisfaction, for I am now to speak words of cheer, of hope, of comfort, of earnest gratitude to a host of patriot heroes, who have offered themselves on their country's altar, who have bravely fought in many battles, and are now suffering from wounds of every kind, and diseases of every form ; and all for the sake of the Republic, for the sake of the sacred cause of free institutions, the cause of civil and religious liberty—here and everywhere—now and for all time.

The cause is indeed the noblest that could be presented to man ; its sole end and object are the preservation of the "Great Republic," the protection of the blessed institutions, for which our fathers so manfully struggled through so many years of anxiety, and danger, and suffering, and for which they endured everything, "even unto death"—and whose grand result was the birth of a nation of Freemen ! After this nation, thus brought into existence, had lived for eighty years in prosperity and happiness, and was advancing with rapid strides to the very first rank among the peoples of the earth, parricidal hands were raised for its destruction ; and by those, too, who had enjoyed to the full extent all its blessings, and at the moment when they struck the first blow for its overthrow, were solely through its means in the perfect fruition of peace, security, political and religious liberty, and, indeed, of every good ever vouchsafed by God to man individually, or as a member of a State.

Let this rebellion succeed, and the despots of the world will rejoice that this great American experiment has failed, and they will receive that result, as well they may, as incontrovertible evidence of the truth of the assertion, that "man is incapable of self-government," and that he can be ruled only by kings and queens, and titled orders. It is to save your country and the world from these consequences, and to resist and defeat this wicked attempt, that you and your brave compatriots in arms have freely and heroically met peril, and faced death. But you know and feel that the cause is worth the sacrifice, vast as it is, for it is the cause of Liberty, a cause dear to all good men in all countries, and which has, as we reverently believe, the favor of the Almighty.

Such a cause cannot fail ; and the evidences are daily accumulating that the last hours of this infamous Rebellion are approaching ; that its life-blood is fast ebbing away, and that at no remote period we shall see our glorious flag floating as proudly and as beautifully as ever over every portion of our country. Grant, Sheridan, Sherman, are our great pacificators, and ere long they will "conquer a peace," the beneficent fruits of which will be enjoyed alike by the loyal man, and by the deluded victim of the slave aristocracy.

Great rewards belong to you, my friends. Now, you have the grateful affection of your countrymen, their respect and admiration ; all these you will enjoy in all their freshness during your lives ; and when you are called on to obey the last summons, and to close your eyes on all things earthly, you will have the happy consolation of knowing that your memories will be cherished, and your deeds of gallantry become as household words to all who survive you, and to generations yet unborn. And why should not this be? We all of this day love to dwell on our Revolutionary fathers, and to recount the deeds of those who suffered in that great struggle. The only just boast of ancestry in our land is the claim of descent from an officer or soldier of the Revolution ; those men erected our beautiful political Temple ; you do an equally hallowed work, you preserve it ! Believe me, then, when I say, that your names and memories will hereafter be held in the same grateful remembrance as is now awarded by all of us of this generation to the heroes of the War of Independence.

How grateful it must be to you and to all here and in other lands, who love mercy, kindness, and philanthropy, to witness the unprecedented offerings of the people of America on the altar of benevolence ! The Sanitary Commission had received in money and property up to the first of July last, fifteen millions of dollars ; the Christian Commission, two and a half millions ; and within the last fortnight, your fellow-citizens, in response to the call of a patriotic association in the City of New York, have contributed in money, and in various articles suitable to the occasion, no less than two hundred thousand dollars for a Thanksgiving dinner to your fellow-soldiers of the different armies of the Republic. The world has never witnessed such exhibitions of the best and most God-like feelings of the human heart. But I beg you not to forget, that for those manifestations of kindness, sympathy, humanity, in its most exalted form, you and all of us are indebted to that blessed Christian religion which is so indispensable to individual as well as to national well-being. In heathen times, in the most palmy days of Greece and Rome, amid all the splendors of intellect and genius which illustrated them, no such offerings on the altar of philanthropy were known ; you hear of no hospitals among them for the sick ; of no associations for the relief of poverty and distress ; of no sympathetic efforts to alleviate human suffering. No, all this is the fruit of that revelation, which pointed out to us in letters of living light our duties alike to our creator and to our fellow-men. To what else than this are you, in this pleasant hospital, and on this very day, indebted for the self-sacrificing labor, the motherly and sisterly affection, I may well say, the "blessed kindness" of these ladies of New York and its vicinity, who leave the comforts of elegant life to minister to your wants, to alleviate your sufferings, and to enable you to realize in a good degree the comforts of your own homes and firesides. These Christian women, representing as they do the worth, intelligence, and social refinement of our great metropolis, present a beautiful example. They have their reward here in the outpourings of your grateful hearts ; and hereafter, it will not be withheld from them in the "mansions of the blessed."

Allow me to say that I feel a greater pride, and deem it a greater honor to speak to you, my country's defenders, than I should regard it to address an assemblage of all the crowned heads and titled nobility of Europe. My heart is in this work ; my head only would be in that.

Again, I assure you that you have the sympathy and gratitude of your countrymen throughout the land, and their earnest hopes and devoutest prayers for your restoration to health and usefulness. May we soon all, citizens and soldiers, men and women, young and old, mingle our rejoicings that war is at an end—peace restored ; that justice, truth, right, have been victorious, treason and rebellion crushed out for ever, and that the dear old flag, the "Star Spangled Banner," waves, and for ages to come will wave, "o'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave."

At the conclusion of Mr. Kirkland's address, the company embarked on board the steamer, placed at their disposal by Col. Chas. McDougall, Medical Director of the Department, and returned to the city before dark, feeling that they had enjoyed a day long to be remembered.

In conclusion, your Committee beg to congratulate you upon the grand success which attended this movement. Though inaugurated as early as the fourth of November, it was impossible to do anything till after the election on the eighth. Within a fortnight after that time we had received the large contributions in money and supplies, and sent them to their destination. So great and so prompt a success could not have attended any such movement, had not it touched the heart of the country, that heart which is ever prompt to respond to every appeal in behalf of those fighting for all that we hold dear.

For the Committee,

CHARLES H. MARSHALL, Chairman,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Treasurer,
GEORGE BLISS, JR., Secretary.
